TRACK TEAM NOSES OUT CLOSE VICTORY OVER HAMILTON MEN

Capt. Cass Gives the Javelin Long Heave in Final Event For Winning Points

MIDDLEBURY 69 1-3; HAMILTON 66 2-3

Happ Makes Record Breaking Dash in 220 But Loses by a Foot

Middlebury's track team defeated the cinder-path men of Hamilton College 69 1-3 to 66 2-3 at Clinton, N. Y., Saturday. It was Captain "Al" Cass who, with his team outscored and the last event drawing to a conclusion, snatched a second place in the javelin throw and tallied the winning points.

A cold, chill wind worried the runners and field men in every event. Hamilton piled up score after score in the short races, taking nine wins in the fifteen scheduled clashes. But the Black Panther runners held tightly to second and third places and captured enough of them to give the hammer-tossers, the high jumpers, and the discuss throwers a foundation for the points that were to total up to victory.

Bill Dodd galloped home ahead of the field in the mile, Henry Happ with first place and Charlie Firman with third carried off the hundred, and Bill Donald led the pack around in the half-mile. Hamilton, however, took all honors in the 220 low hurdles, a first in the 440 and the 120 high hurdles, and eased past Middlebury in the scorebooks.

Then came the weight events. Al Cass placed second in the 16 pound-shot put with McLaughlin third, Al took a first when he heaved the discus 121 feet, and then, a little later, gathered Percy Whitney and McLaughlin about him to take all the ribbons in the 16 pound-hammer throw.

Hamilton jumpers mixed finals a bit in the high jump; Roberts tied with Red Westfall, Midd yearling, at five feet, while two Hamilton men disputed second place with "Pete" Whitney. And these points, combined with seconds and thirds in the weight battles, placed the two college teams in a deadlock when the call was given for the javelin throw.

A third place would have meant d-

HARDER TO HEAD SAXONIAN BOARD

Woman Named Editor-in-Chief of Literary Publication; Stewart Mgr.

Miss Frances M. Harder '26 of Lake Katrine, N. Y., is to head next year's Saxonian board, the literary publication of the college. At the same meeting James C. McLeod '26 of Buffalo, N. Y., was elected assistant editor-in-chief. Other officers for the coming year are: Lester Q. Stewart '26 of Camden, N. J., business manager; Richard C. Campbell '27 of Lynn, Mass.; assistant business manager, and Florence M. Smith '26 of Plattsburg, N. Y., advertising manager.

Miss Harder is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, and has besides her publication work been active in women's athletics, holding the office last year of Secretary of the Women's Athletic Association.

Mr. McLeod is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, and of Delta Tau. He is assistant cheer leader and circulation manager of the Blue Baboon and has been active in Campus affairs.

Mr. Stewart is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity, and of Delta Tau, and has been assistant circulation manager of the Saxonian.

The contributing editors also elected to the Saxonian are: Frances M. Frost '27; Alice Fales '28; Margaret Doty '26; Rachel Spear '27; Gordon Blackburn '27; Charles F. Malam '28; and Crawford V. Lance '27. The assistant advertising manager and another contributing editor will be selected at a later date.

R. L. RICE '26 ELECTED CAPTAIN OF QUINTET

Is Participant in Three Major Sports; One of Middlebury's Outstanding Basketball Players

Robert L. Rice, Jr., '26, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was chosen captain of basketball for the season of 1925-26 at a meeting of the letter men held yesterday. The choice of "Shorty" as leader of the quintet is a popular one, for he has been a mainstay on the team for the past two years and is one of the best-liked men on the campus. He is an all-round athlete, having made his letter twice in basketball, once in football and at present being members of the varsity baseball team. During the past basketball season, Rice was high-point man for his team, although he played guard.

"Shorty" holds many campus offices. He is treasurer of both the Undergraduate Association and the Junior Class, chairman of the Junior Week Invitations Committee, and is on the Interfraternity Council. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

1926 KALEIDOSCOPE EXPECTED TO BE OUT IN FEW DAYS

Pictures in Year Book Are Declared to Be Exceptional

One of the big features of Junior Week, not listed on the program, is to be the appearance of the 1926 Kaleidoscope, a year-book which the editors promise will equal even the excellent ones of the past two years. Preparation for the publication of the annual has been under way since the first of April of last year and nothing has been spared to make the Junior book one which will adequately represent the class which is publishing it.

The last pages of the book were printed on Monday and the bindery men are now working feverishly in an effort to complete at least a part of them so that they can be distributed on the campus during the week-end. If the printers and binders live up to their contract the Kaleidoscope will be issued on Friday. If it is physically impossible to issue them at that time they will be given out as soon as possible afterwards. The Juniors will, be the first to receive copies of the book.

Those who are familiar with the Kaeidoscopes of past years will notice in the 1926 book several marked changes, all of which the editors believe are for the better. An effort has been made to make the book not merely a class publication, but one which is representative of the college as a whole. To that end a campus view section has been prepared which probably surpasses any ever printed in a Middlebury book. Most of the pictures have been taken at angles, which although familiar to every Middlebury person, are not seen in the ordinary picture. Several views of Ripton gorge and Otter Creek are also included. All have been artistically arranged and mounted by an expert. The night view of the Mead Chapel which is included in the opening section is declared, by those who have seen it, to be perhaps the best one which has ever been printed. The entire opening section is more pretentious than any that the Kaleidoscope has had in the past.

The pictures of all the individuals and groups are exceptionally clear cut and true to life. The majority of the group pictures were taken out of doors, thus doing away with the troubles often caused by faulty lighting. Every student organization is included in the book. The fact that less emphasis has been laid on the faculty and Juniors has allowed the board to give the college as a whole more adequate presentation.

The cover of the book is an especially well-designed one. It is made of mission grain leather in a Middlebury blue. The design on the front is well worked out and includes the name of the book, the class numerals and the college seal, all in bronze.

The board as a whole, especially Dana S. Hawthorne '26 who is editor-in-chief, have put weeks of untiring effort into the publication of the book and believe that they have produced one which will be well-liked by the student body.

COLLEGE IS READY TO ENJOY PROGRAM OF GALA WEEK-END

Tomorrow at Noon Marks Start of Class of 1926 Junior Week

JUNIOR PROM IS FRIDAY EVENING

Baseball Games, Track Meet Concert, Play are Scheduled

All preparations have been made and everything is ready for the best Junior Week Middlebury has ever seen. Classes will cease for the remainder of the week Thursday at 12:30. The committee has worked unceasingly for a wonderful week-end, and if the weather man cooperates nothing will be lacking for a program of social and athletic events which will eclipse anything ever before experienced on Middlebury's campus.

The week commences with a baseball game between Middlebury and her ancient rival, Vermont, on Porter Field Thursday afternoon at 2:30. As usual the game will be a great battle and Middlebury is prepared to put her strongest team on the diamond with intentions of scoring a victory over the Green and Gold.

Thursday evening at 8:00 in Mead Memorial Chapel the College Glee Club will present its first concert of the season before a Middlebury audience. The Club will be under the personal direction of Professor Larsen and will give an excellent program composed of popular and classical selections. This is the first and only appearance of the Club in Middlebury this season and everyone should attempt to be present.

The second day's program consists of interfraternity stunts at the College Playhouse Friday morning at 10:30, an interfraternity relay race at Porter Field at 2:15, a baseball game between Middlebury and Norwich at 2:30, a greased pig contest at 5:00, and the Junior Prom at 8:00 in the Gymnasium. A cup will be awarded to the fraternity presenting the best stunt in the morning. The rules of the greased pig contest have been stated previously, two men from each fraternity and the neutral body, a Freshman and a Sophomore, will chase the slimy swine, the first one to capture it keeping it for his fraternity.

Little need be said of the plans for the Prom, since the very mention of Morey Pearl and his famous Brunswick Recording orchestra guarantees a wonderful evening of syncopation. The Prom Committee has made extensive and elaborate plans for an unprecedented program, and it promises to be a history making function.

An opportunity will be given the sub-Freshmen Saturday morning at 10:00 to make a tour of the College buildings in order to gain a good idea of the facilities of the various departments. While this tour is in progress a tennis match will be held between Middlebury and Vermont. In the afternoon at 2:15 there will be a track meet with R. P. I. The Junior play will be presented Saturday evening at 8:00 in the Gynasium. "Three Live Ghosts" promises to be well worth seeing, and the cast has been working hard to give the best play ever presented during any Junior Week. After the play there will be an interfraternity sing on the steps of Mead Memorial Chapel.

At vespers Sunday evening the speaker will be Louis Perry of Phillips Exeter Academy. The program of the week will close with an intersorority sing at 7:00 on the steps of Pearsons Hall.

The Junior Week Committee, knowing the uncertainty of Middlebury weather have made arrangements so that if rain necessitates the cancellation of the athletic events, the program will be a success nevertheless. In case of rain any afternoon special movies will be shown in the Opera House at two o'clock while informal dancing will take place in the gym from four till six.

William Purdy '26, heads the Junior Week Committee and is responsible in a large measure for the complete program which has been arranged.

NINE OPENS STATE SERIES TOMORROW

Two Games With Vermont; One with Norwich on Schedule For Week-End

Junior Week marks a busy week as far the baseball team is concerned. By Sunday it is highly probable that it will be decided which of the Vermont teams will be State Champion. Barring the fickleness of the weather Middlebury will have played three games in the series by Sunday.

Vermont will be the first opponent of the Blue on Thursday. While Vermont has had a more successful season than Middlebury to date thru the advantage of a southern trip it would be no surprise to see the upstaters go back on the short end of the score. Although it has not been decided who will pitch it looks as if either Witham or Towne will endeavor to turn back the Green and Gold. All the rest of the regulars are in uniform and will start the game.

Norwich will be the attraction at Porter Field on Friday. It is highly probable that Klevenow will start on the mound saving either Towne of Witham to start against Vermont on Saturday when the Blue again meets the upstaters, this time at Burlington.

CAMPAIGNERS REST CASES WITH VOTERS AFTER FINAL RALLY

Seven Candidates Entered in Scorching Race for "Presidency"

Glowing tributes, sparkling praise and undying pledges of unqualified support were given to the seven candidates for the "presidency" of Middlebury College by their respective campaign managers last night at the greatest political rally in Middlebury's history, held in the band stand on the village common following a torchlight parade which extened for miles through the streets of the Addison county metropolis.

The gathering marked the high point of one of the most stirring political campaigns known to Middlebury students. The post which the candidates seek is a highly prized one and each campaign manager is exerting the utmost efforts to make his (or her) man (or woman) the winner. The race started last Friday morning when it was learned by the Junior Week Committee that President Moody is considering leaving town for a "leave of absence." Realizing the college's imperative need of a "president pro-tem" the committee called for nominees and in less time than it takes a freshman to get out of town when vacation starts six worthy gentlemen had thrown their Stetsons in the circle.

But the campaign had no more than gotten away to a flying start when on Saturday morning Miss R. E. (Red) Whitney threw the political situation into a turmoil by adding to the collection the old grey bonnet of Miss Christina Priscilla Tasker, the woman's candidate. In a fiery nominating speech Miss Whitney made a stirring appeal to the "living" and the "dead", denounced her opponents and declared that her candidate's slogan was "down with the skirts."

Although somewhat taken back by the suddenness of the feminine attack, the men quickly rallied behind their six candidates and after posing for a host of photographers held a speech-fest from the Old Chapel steps in the afternoon. At this time each of the campaign managers set forth fully the platform of his respective white hope. Leary is managing Frederickson's campaign, standing for the three B's, booze, bimbos and blasphemy. Crane says "Down with the Deans" and maintains that Leiby is the man for the position, while McDonald is rowing for Frank who is afloat in a sea of real, old-fashioned Milwaukee beer. Cooley says that the college will have peace, prayer and prosperity if Senator Gruggel is elected and supports his assertion by paying half the price of every "Senator Gruggel" sundae that Joe sells. Rapport espouses vehemently the cause of Paul "Whoozis" Ward, the people's choice. Jackson, ably assisted by Hade and Herrington, says that "a vote for Hawthorne is a vote for victory" and declares that "the inevitable man for

DIAMOND MEN PLAY BETTER BALL ON TOUR OF BAY STATE

Score Victory Over Springfield for First Win of Present Season

TOWNE AND WITHAM PITCH GOOD BALL

Boston College and Worcester Nose Out Blue by Narrow Margins

Middlebury scored her first baseball victory of the season last Friday when the Blue sent Springfield down to defeat by a 9 to 5 score. The other two games of the trip turned out to be losses but by the narrowest of margins. Boston College defeated the team 2-0 while Worcester Tech won out in a slugfest by the score of 12 to 11. Two home runs, marked the trip, one by Banks and the other by Klevenow. Witham played the part of relief pitcher in two games and held both Worcester and Springfield. Towne pitched a wonderful game against Boston College but the team tallied only two hits behind him and could not score.

Worcester Tech 12, Middlebury 11

In a shower of hits, errors and runs Middlebury went down before Worcester by the narrow margin of one run. Before the last man was out in the ninth twenty-three runs had crossed the rubber and twenty-seven hits had resounded off the bats of the two teams. Three Middlebury pitchers faced the home team and none of them were effective enough to hold the Tech batters in check. Middlebury did a little hitting on her own account slapping out ten hits bunching them in the closing innings.

Klevenow started for the Blue and lasted till the third. Simmons took up the burden in this inning but before it ended Jack Witham was forced to come to the mound. In this session the engineers bunched three hits and these combined with a like number of passes and a couple of errors yielded five runs.

Middlebury cut down the lead in their half of the fourth when with two men on Banks sent both of them over the rubber with a homer, the first Middlebury four bagger of the season.

CONNELLY AGAIN IN CHARGE OF BABOON

Humorous Publication Picks Staff; Clark to be Literary Editor

John E. Connelly '26 of New York City was again elected to head the college comic publication at the annual elections held Monday afternoon in the publications office. At the same meeting J. Audrey Clark '26 of Buffalo, N. Y., was elected literary editor; Foster R. Clement, jr., '27 of Burlington, art editor, and James C. McLeod '26 of Buffalo, N. Y., circulation manager. A rearrangement of officers has been made for the coming year on the publication board. In place of the editor-in-chief the office of general manager has been created, which is to supervise both the editorial and the business portions of the publication board, and the office of literary editor has been formed as the head of the editorial department.

Mr. Connelly has been very active in campus affairs throughout his college career. He was one of the founders of the Blue Baboon, which has under his direction rapidly acquired national prominence in the field of college humorous publications. He is a member of Chi Psi fraternity and Phi Pi Epsilon, the honorary journalistic fraternity.

Mr. Clark has just completed his work as editor-in-chief of the Campus, is business manager of the 1926 Kaleidoscope, is prominent in dramatics, and is a member of Sigma Phi Iota fraternity, Phi Pi Epsion and Delta Tau.

Mr. Clement is a member of Delta

Assistant Editor for this Issue:
CELIAN H. ABBOTT
MARTHA E. GORDON

The Campus regrets that Professor Everett Skillings, who has cooperated with the editors as faculty adviser for several years, will be unable to serve in this capacity in the future, since he is taking up additional work in the German Department. Professor Skillings has always had the welfare of the Campus at heart and his advice and suggestions have always been invaluable.

We Make Our Bow

This issue of the Campus marks the change of administration from the old board which has served so faithfully and well during the past year to the new board which has been recently elected. Middlebury has been fortunate in the past few years to have very able men and women to take charge of its weekly publication. It is the hope of the new board that it may in some measure uphold the high standards of its predecessors.

There will be no marked change in the policy of this paper under the new administration. It is our plan to continue with the policies which have been upheld in the past, namely those of expressing student opinion fairly and squarely as we see it, of giving all of the news of the college in a truthful and interesting manner and of acting as an open forum for the exchange of opinions of students, faculty and alumni.

Since the Campus is published by the students of Middlebury College it is only natural to expect that it should be truly representative of those who stand behind it. In its news columns every effort will be made to set forth all of the college news and to intersperse this with outside news which may be of special interest to the college. In the editorial columns it sometimes is not so easy to satisfy all parties and factions. The Campus will try to make it a rule to state student opinion when that opinion is of a sound and healthful nature. But we can not do this accurately unless we have the full cooperation of every student in college. We want to have the benefit of criticism, whether it is favorable or otherwise, from every one who is interested in this paper. Our columns are open at all times for communications. We are especially anxious to print in our columns the opinions and beliefs of others even though at times we may find ourselves unable to agree with them.

The new Campus board is at present in the midst of strange and unfamiliar surroundings. It will be a few weeks before it can get fully into the swing of the new work. During this time it is possible that certain errors and omissions may occur. We hope to avoid them but if they do occur we will appreciate it if they are called to our attention. If the college will bear with us and cooperate with our staff it will help us materially to avoid these mistakes. Hearty cooperation, not only during the next few weeks but throughout the year, will be of invaluable assistance in enabling us to produce a Campus which will adequately represent Middlebury.

The Casual Observer

By Philip Space

Middlebury students are fortunate in having such a wide choice in the selection of the candidate for President Pro-tem. These presidential aspirants represent every conceivable plank, platform, and stepladder that one could wish or if you can think of another plank that is by some chance not mentioned, anyone of the candidates will willingly tack it on.

Vote For One Only

Hospitality

The cover of a recent issue of a well known magazine bore these words: "the Glory of the House is Hospitality." Junior Week, a time honored custom of the college, is sometimes called Sub-freshman Week. In the spring of the year when nature is working its miracle of rebirth, future students of this institution are invited to become acquainted with the college which will some day linger in their memories as the glory-spot of their youths. The beauty of Middlebury's setting is famous and a strong factor in the good impression which strangers receive of the college. But that alone can not create in our guests the feeling which we want them to carry away. The race of man is delicately organized and extremely sensitive to human contact. The spirit of a gathering does more to insure its success or failure than the setting.

Beginning tomorrow it is once again our privilege to entertain not only the sub-freshmen but also our friends and relatives. The traditions of the college and the noble characteristics for which it stands are ever before us in the strength of the hills and the monuments of its great men, an inspiration and a guide to us. It is our duty as hosts to make our guests feel the strength of the spirit of Middlebury. We can do so much to make them feel that they are welcome and that this is a place where they would like to spend four years, or, in the case of parents, a college where they know their sons and daughters are getting the best. A great deal depends upon the attitude of the student body. We all know that deep down in our hearts there is an unswerving loyalty and love for Middlebury, but we must make others realize that this is how we feel. We are old enough now not to need warnings to be courteous and thoughtful of others' comfort. It is up to us to go farther and impress outsiders with the worthwhileness and beauty of Middlebury. Real hospitality consists of more than mere external courtesies and physical comfort. It is the spirit which counts, and when guests depart filled with the richness of real personal contact, then can it truly be said that the glory of the house is hospitality.

The Campus, with this issue, takes pleasure in introducing to its readers a new column which will be headed "The Casual Observer" and which will be conducted by a certain "Philip Space." We hope that Mr. Space in the role of the "Observer" will prove to be an acceptable successor to the Skipper who piloted the "Periscope", to "Jac" and the "Idler", to Bill and his "Billboard" and to the gentleman who recently gave us jokes "By the Yard."

Differing from these able men, the new columnist will not attempt to confine his efforts solely to the realms of wit and humor. He will write his observations as the spirit moves him, now attempting to be humorous, and again looking at matters from the more serious side. We believe that the undergraduate will join with us in wishing "Philip Space" the best of luck with the column which is alloted him.

JUNIORS TO PRESENT THREE LIVE GHOSTS

Class Production Promises To be Great Success; Dress Rehearsal Tonight

"Three Live Ghosts," the Junior Class production to be presented on Saturday evening at 8:15 in McCullough Gymnasium has its dress rehearsal this evening. All possible opportunities have been utilized to insure one of the best dramatic productions ever staged at Middlebury, and the smoothness with which all elements are shaping up insure to the Junior Week audience an evening replete with amusement, mystery and excitement.

S. Richard Rapport '25 is coaching the production and to those familiar with his abilities both as actor and as coach no doubt remains as to the promise of success which the evening holds out.

Anyone interested in spiritualism and complicated situations cannot afford to miss "Three Live Ghosts." The setting is in London in 1917 and the play deals with the spiritual superstitions of an old English Cockney lady, Mrs. Gubbins. The spiritual attitude of the old lady calls forth the reality to her in an extremely disconcerting manner when she calls for her son whom she believes to be dead and beholds him actually appearing before her very eyes.

The cast is as follows:

Mrs. Gubbins, known as the Old Sweetheart	Margaret Prentice
Peggy Woofers	Hazel Hughes
Bolton, American Detective	Joe Novotny
Jimmy Gubbins	Louis Lebowitz
William Foster, alias William Jones	Courtland Whitney
Spoofy	Frank Herrington
Rose Gordon	Eleanor Frost
Briggs of Scotland Yard	E. Carlton Moore
Benson	Milo Lathrop
Lady Leicester	Doris Houston

New "Lucky Bones" Given to College

J. E. Scott of Charbassa, India, Sends Pair of Panther Bones to Prexy To be Kept in "Reserve"

A new pair of "lucky bones" taken from the breast of a black panther, Middlebury's mascot, have been presented to the college by J. E. Scott, the hunter who killed the panther from which the original bones were taken. The new pair are to be kept in reserve in case the original ones should ever become lost by any chance.

Mr. Scott's letter to President Moody which is printed herewith, is very interesting:

March 26, 1925

Carbassa,
B. N. Ry. India.

Dear Sir:

Mr. G. M. Hossack of New York City sent me on some account of of the doings of your College football team, apparently attributed in part to certain lucky bones taken from a panther I shot here. As an old 'Trial' cap for Scotland myself, I take a special interest in football, and as even the best medicine wears down, and the most precious mascot gets lost, will you allow me to present the College team with a reserve pair, enclosed herewith.

If ferocity on the part of the owner can impart 'Kick' to later possessors, I should hate to stop a rush when you carried this pair. The panther had mauled five men when we walked him up, and I shot him while actually on top of my forest officer, at a range of about six inches.

With the bones, may I add my best wishes for a season of big scores and unbroken success.

The natives say the use of these curious floating bones in the shoulder is that if the panther miss his kill, he assuages his hunger by licking the bones. If Middlebury misses anything, may you lick Creation.

Yours sincerely,
J. E. SCOTT,
Dy Commissioner.

Phi Beta Kappa Holds Installation Banquet

About forty people, including initiates, faculty and alumni members were present at the annual initiation banquet of Phi Beta Kappa held Friday evening at the Addison House. Speeches were given by Dr. E. D. Collins, Mrs. J. J. Ross, F. Beacom Rich '25, Dorothy Johnson '25, Prof. Llewellyn Perkins and Mr. Gardner Williams. Twenty-one members of the class of 1925 have been elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of The Campus:

A slightly inaccurate statement appeared in the Campus last week relative to changes in the French department for the coming year. This said that Professor Andre Morize of Harvard, would take an active part in the French Summer School of 1926. Professor Morize will serve as Director of the French Summer School and the staff will be entirely of his selection. I think that we may confidently expect under his leadership such attendance at the French School as we have never known before.

Dr. Freeman will be associated with Professor Morize in the direction of the Summer School of 1926. Further announcements, both in respect to the personnel of the Summer Session and to other departments of the college will be made public later.

Very sincerely yours,
PAUL D. MOODY.

Cinder Path Men to Meet R. P. I. Saturday

Team Shows Promise But Expect Close Race for Honors with Old Rivals

The Varsity track men will meet R. P. I. on Porter Field on Saturday afternoon in the second meet of the season. In view of the Varsity's recent victory over Hamilton last week in the first meet of the season the track prospects appear to be much brighter than was at first supposed. Thus, it would seem that the Blue runners have a good chance of scoring their second victory on Saturday, especially as R. P. I. was defeated by Springfield last week, although the meet was closely contested throughout. The engineers will be all set to avenge their overwhelming defeat of last year when one of the best track teams that Middlebury ever turned out administered a very decisive win over the New York State collegians.

The Blue team's strongest bid for victory will probably be made in the sprints and weight throwing events. Happ, Carboy, Firman and Donald stand a good chance of scoring in the dashes, while Cass, Whitney, McLaughlin, McCann, and Eddy will represent the team in the field events. The main weakness seems to be in the hurdle races as there were few men out for the hurdles this year. Shaeffer, Blanchette and Whitney will probably run in the hurdles.

Rensselaer has a very strong team this year and is especially strong in the weight throwing and field events. The meet will in all probability be a very closely contested one.

Women Give Fine Concert; Much Credit Due Miss Fish

A very delightful concert was given by the Women's Glee Club Friday evening at the College Playhouse. This was the first public concert ever given by the club and its success is a glowing tribute to the members and especially to Miss Prudence H. Fish who directed the rehearsals. The program was divided into two parts, the latter of which was more informal than the first. "The Green Cathedral" by Carl Hahn was an especially well rendered number. Two 'cello solos, "I'll Sing Thee Songs of Araby", by Clay and "Kerry Dance," by James S. Malloy, were given by Miss Marjorie Cross.

DR. BARTON SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICE

Alumnus Takes "Christianity as Subject of Sermon

Dr. James L. Barton, secretary to the Foreign Department of the American Board of Foreign Missions, spoke at vespers Sunday, May 3, with Colossians 1:16-18 as his text: "For by Christ were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him: and he is before all things and through him all things exist; and he is the head of the body, the church."

"My topic", said Dr. Barton, "is the church of Jesus Christ and our relation to it. The church has been criticized for such matters as failure to stop the war, allowing unworthy membership, the existence of hopeless denominational divisions. Criticisms like these have turned young people away from the church.

"Let us consider what the church is. It is not meeting house, preacher, congregation, creed or ritual, though all of these are connected with it, but neither separately nor altogether constitute it. The church, we may say, is a body of believers in Jesus Christ, who recognize Him as head over all, with His personality their creed and with devotion and service to Him their ritual.

"The church represents Christianity. Religion commands the attention and allegiance of the human race; it is the subtle force that dominates humanity, shaping society, directing the lives of men and calling forth their devotion and sacrifice. In America it is Christianity that accomplishes the function of religion. The mandate of Christianity has the leading minds of the nation in obedience to it and through that obedience have schools and colleges sprung up, has service with no financial compensation been rendered, have sacrifices to extend Christianity throughout the world been made.

"The church needs men of intelligence, devotion and Christian bearing to make the church the power that it ought to be throughout the modern world. There is a universal conflict today and it is for you who are college men and women to be ready to enter that conflict, with Christ over all, through all, the head of that body, the church."

Campaigners Shout Loud and Long for Presidential Candidates

Although the candidates, in their tall hats and frock coats, have been in the midst of the voters continuously they have not yet been permitted to speak a word for themselves. Each is to be given five minutes to display his qualifications for the position, four before the Vermont game tomorrow and the remainder at the Norwich game the next day. The momentous question will be decided by a vote of the student body Friday afternoon while the announcement of the winner, which is being awaited with breathless interest by the world at large, will be made at the Junior Promenade Friday evening.

In the meantime the most important feature of the campaign, according to keen political observers, is the unanimity of the fair sex for their lone candidate. Hower, each of the campaign managers, in eleventh hour statements made to the CAMPUS this morning, said, "Tell the students we are confident."

Lathrop Named President of Christian Association

Pinder Chosen to Edit Freshman Handbook; Other Officers Named at Annual Election

At the weekly meeting of the Men's Christian Association last Wednesday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing yar: President, Milo W. Lathrop '26; vice president, Harold Downey '26; secretary, Elbert Merriam '28; treasurer, Hilton Bicknell '27.

Mr. Lathrop, who has had considerable experience in religious work, both in active work among College students and in preaching at several of the churches in Addison County, promises to put the Association on a firm foundation so that it will be a live aid in the men's college. He is a graduate of Bristol High school, a member of varsity track and cross country teams teams, a member of Kappa Phi Kappa and Delta Upsilon fraternities.

Daniel Pinder was elected as Editor of the Freshman Handbook which the Association intends to put out and send to all incoming students before next September. Pinder has had considerable experience in similar lines of work and should produce a worth-while Handbook.

Campus Board Gathers At Installation Feast

The annual installation banquet of the Middlebury Campus was held at the Addison House Wednesday evening, April 29. In former years this has been an informal affair but this year, through the efforts and influence of J. Audrey Clark, Editor-in-Chief of the 1924-25 Board, it for the first time took the form of a formal banquet. Both the old and new boards were invited and President and Mrs. Paul D. Moody with Professor and Mrs. Everett Skillings were the guests of honor.

Mr. Clark ably performed the duties of toastmaster. His remarks as the old editor were responded to by James S. Jackson, the new editor. "The Campus" was discussed by Prof. Skillings, and President Moody advanced "The Faculty's Viewpoint". The following responded with impromptus: Mr. Hickcox, Miss Raymond, Miss Hutchison, Mr. Montandon and Mr. Egan.

Campus Reporters Elected

Three men and six women, who have been trying out for the editorial staff of the CAMPUS since last fall, were elected reporters at a recent meeting of the board. They are as follows: Alice Fales '28, Anna Belisle '28, Laura Kennedy '28, Eleanor Manley '27, Emily Lobdell '28, Dorothy Cox '27, William Hall '27, Storrs Lee '28 and Charles Malam '28.

SAXONIAN REVIEW

Ever since Miss Hutchison took the veil, we have missed something from "The Saxonian"; but now comes Mr. Cooley, to set the tongues wagging once more.

Let us begin by asserting that, considered as mere technique, Mr. Cooley's story is much the best thing that we have ever seen in a Middlebury College publication. We have detected but one slip in taste. We have, as a Harvard man, long since buried the hatchet with Yale, but we cannot help regretting that this particular Eli, after putting his visitor to bed, did not follow the good old romantic tradition and himself go out and sleep on a cactus-bush.

As regards the morals of Mr. Cooley's production, they simply do not exist, nor should we seek to domesticate among Hill People the conventions that obtain in civilized communities. However we may wish the people in this story to have behaved, there is no doubt but what they would have behaved precisely as the author says they did. Their behavior is as inevitably worked out for them in advance as is the conduct of the characters in Knut Hamsun's Sons of the Soil—a book of which this story is closely reminiscent.

For sustained beauty of diction and consistent symbolism the account of the Building of the City of Taelo is masterly. It makes one hold one's breath with delight. "Gehazi", on the other hand, despite many strong individual passages, is a bit disappointing as a whole. We do not quite know what it is all about.

In the book-reviews, Mr. Jacobs puts his finger unerringly on the weak spot in Foster's "A Passage to India". We are privileged to have an estimate from one who has such an intimate and sympathetic knowledge of conditions in his native land. The review of Lewis' "Arrowsmith'" seems to us to miss, to a large extent, the meaning of the book; it makes no mention of that quality of the hero that stands forth on every page—his disinterestested love of pure knowledge.

A final word as to the poetry. Easily first is that sparkling bit of star-dust, Miss Belisle's little poem entitled "Question?". It is as lovely as it is brief. Mr. Jacob once more favors us with a bit of work that only he can do, a poem called "Spring", where one's only regret arises from the vagueness of the symbolism of the concluding lines. We can only trust that the trend of Miss Frost's "Roumanian Folk-Song" will not lead to some susceptible co-ed's incurring the penalty technically known as "Campusing". All the poetry in this number shows a distinct gain in both strength and intelligibility over that of the preceding issue.

Altogether, this is a distinguished number of "The Saxonian", and big with promise for the future. W. S. B

MEN'S GLEE CLUB IN FIRST HOME CONCERT

Musical Organization Is To Sing in Mead Chapel Tomorrow Evening

Tomorrow night in Mead Memorial Chapel the Middlebury Glee Club will make its annual Junior Week debut. Both Professor Larsen and Professor Bonney are well pleased with the commendable work which the club has done this year. Following the Concert given at New Britain, Connecticut, Professor Bonney received the note "You came, you sang, you conquered." He has also received a reengagement at New Britain for next year. The following is a quotation from a Mamaroneck paper written after the concert there: "The voices of the chorus were accurately trained and blended. The club acquitted itself commendably with a performance which possessed clearness of tone, strength and depth of quality, and of course, youth. They are a well-set-up lot of young men and the broad, royal blue ribbon which slashed the bosoms of their dress shirts, gave them a certain impressiveness. The vocal quartet evidenced a happy combination of voices and sang with ease and expression."

And he has lived to see it

In 1881 Edison shipped to the Paris Exposition his "Jumbo" dynamo—eighth wonder of the world. It could light 1000 lamps. Now there are G-E generators large enough to supply current for over a million lamps, each with four times the candle-power of the lamp of 1881.
The General Electric Company produces other electrical apparatus which makes it possible to transmit power over great distances. It has put electricity in seven-league boots. In its laboratories, scientists are now experimenting with voltages ten times as great as the highest now in use.

If you are interested in learning more about what electricity is doing, write for Reprint No. AR391 containing a complete set of these advertisements.

Back in 1885, Thomas A. Edison succeeded in transmitting electricity at 220 volts for one mile—an achievement and a promise.

The promise was fulfilled a few months ago, when electricity at 220,000 volts was transmitted two hundred and forty miles to supply Los Angeles with light and power.

Now five billion dollars are invested in electric power plants. A stupendous figure that testifies to the alertness of thousands of college-trained men who have been leaders in the production and use of electric power.

The electrical era has only dawned. Each year some new machine or discovery makes it possible to apply electricity in unexpected ways. The graduate of today will find electricity directly or indirectly a means for even greater accomplishments, no matter what his calling in life may be.

Nine Wins First Game; Loses Two Close Ones

Middlebury tied the score in the eighth when six hits one of which was a triple by Witham combined with several errors yielded six runs. Witham almost turned out to be the hero of the game for his three base clout aided materially in the tally. However with the score tied Worcester sent across what proved to be the deciding tally in their half of the inning.

Middlebury 9, Springfield 5

After presenting Springfield with a mere five runs in the first inning Middlebury came back and in the closing inning gained the first victory of the season. Witham turned out to be the hero of the contest for after coming to the mound in the first, he allowed the home team only seven hits and not a run.

Simmons started the game for the Blue but failed to last long enough to become even acclimated, for after two men had scored in the first and the bases were still crowded at every corner, Jack Witham came in to take up the burden. Before the dust had cleared away three more men had crossed the plate and things looked decidedly black. With Springfield holding on to a three run lead the Vermont team laid on Crawley in the second and before the frame was over another unhappy pitcher had gone to the showers and the score was tied.

Both Witham and Erickson breezed along in fine style bothered only by the rain which stopped the game several times, until the seventh. In the first half of the inning the team pushed across a run and went into the lead.

In the ninth Klevenow coming to bat with two men on laid on one for a homer and sewed the game up. It was a beautiful wallop going between left and center and Klevenow had no difficutly in beating the throw.

Boston College 2, Middlebury 0

The team stepped to the Bean City on Saturday, played Boston College and were turned back 2-0. McCrehan twirled for B. C. and turned the Blue batters back with but two hits. Towne was on the mound for Middlebury and pitched well holding the home team to eight well-scattered hits.

A ninth inning rally almost sent the game into extra innings. To start the inning Whitney was thrown out at first after a miraculous stop by the third baseman. Novotny got Middlebury's second hit of the game, sending a long drive to center field for three bases. Conley flied out and Novotny was left stranded when Banks hit into Foley's hands.

After the third Towne settled down to work and not a man reached second after the inning. In the fourth a double play Conley to Hasseltine snuffed out the B. C. men on base and again in the fifth a double play, Towne to Whitney to Hasseltine ended the inning.
